overview.

Alex Hicks enjoys his work-time making motion graphics that wow.

Creativity and career choice manifested themselves early in his formative years in Longmont, Colorado through his incessant drawing, Nintendo dexterity, musical experimentation, and mastery of acute cynicism. He added to these early skills by earning a bachelor's degree in media arts and animation. Alex now spends his Denver work week, in both his staff and freelance jobs, as a motion designer who has honed his technical skills and media prowess to a true art form, through several years of hard-core experience.

Alex fills what little off-time he ekes out with street art, dystopian novels, depressing movies, tattoos, and a severe addiction to organizing his iTunes.

He finds the following words funny: donkey, tiddlywink, lanyard, boondoggle, farthing.
